

Rhody Food Tours presents Immigrant Cuisines, Part II

March 13, March 27, April 3, April 24 (Saturdays at noon)

Format: Presentations with discussion and meals

Providence was selected as the 7th best city in the United States for ethnic food by Travel + Leisure in 2009. Take the tour and find out why.

Expand your palate and your knowledge through this uniquely intimate culinary experience. Visit four immigrant-owned restaurants. Meet the chefs and owners. Learn the history and ingredients of each culture. Most importantly, eat authentic Dominican (Ada's Creations), Korean BBQ (Sura), Senegalese (Dakar) and Vietnamese cuisine (Minh Hai) without the need of a passport.

Join host John Taraborelli as he introduces you to a world of flavors found in Greater Providence neighborhoods. John is a Rhode Island native and the assistant editor at Providence Media, publishers of four lifestyle magazines around the state, including Providence Monthly. He is an avid foodie, and personally takes at least partial credit for inspiring the increased interest other local publications have been taking in ethnic restaurants in diverse neighborhoods. He delights in introducing people to new and exciting restaurants and cuisines they might not have otherwise discovered.

*Are you a vegetarian? Do you have special dietary needs and/or allergies? No worries. Let us know at registration. We will accommodate.

For those who participated in Part I, the experience of eating the foods of a variety of cultures and meeting the chefs was a great one.

Fee: Non refundable $30.00 fee per BCLIR member covering the four chef presentations; Non- refundable $50.00 fee per non-member. Meals at each restaurant will not exceed $15.00 per location paid to that restaurant, plus tax and tip. Class limited to 25.
